REDUXION REDEFINES VALENTINE'S DATE NIGHT

Theatre Groups Offers Fun, Unique Night Life Experience in Oklahoma City

OKLAHOMA CITY (January 17, 2012) – This February, new energy is brought to the classic Valentine's Date-Night by Oklahoma City's fastest growing Theatre Company: Reduxion Theatre (RTC).

RTC received much attention and positive reviews in 2011 with the opening of their intimate new venue, The Broadway Theater in OKC. Critically acclaimed productions of Shakespeare's A Midsummer Night's Dream, Hamlet and the American classic Hair, the American Tribal Love-Rock Musical, drew more than 2,000 fans to RTC at 1613 North Broadway Avenue near Automobile Alley and downtown.

"We love romantic stories and audiences love seeing them," said Tyler Woods, RTC Artistic Director and Much Ado About Nothing director. "We push boundaries and challenge people on an emotional level, and we hope to make a name for ourselves as producers of plays that people enjoy sharing with a loved one."

This season, RTC gets back to its roots by revisiting some of their first productions as a company. RTC continues their successful, "Original Sins" season with the romantic comedy Much Ado About Nothing by William Shakespeare, which was the first show independently produced by Artistic Director, Tyler Woods, in 2000. Woods directs this hilarious, touching and fast-paced romance with the same love and care he gave the first time around, on the show that started it all!

"Although we are considered a young company, this journey has taken many years," said Woods. "From that first independent production in 2000, to this season, our fourth residential season in Oklahoma City, and the second year in our own performance venue – we must honor our growth and the support of the Oklahoma City community in fostering our development for over a decade."

RTC welcomes patrons to another decade of growth this year. Each RTC opening night is celebrated with a unique after-party, gaining popularity as a distinctive Oklahoma City social event. Much Ado About Nothing, set in the swinging 1960s in Sicily, will hold an opening night gala, Feb. 9th, immediately following the performance: Italian-style festivities, featuring food, drink and fun is held for attendees for no extra charge. Food is sponsored by Café Nova.

A romantic "Couple's Package" is offered on the Friday and Saturday performances, February 10th and 11th, before Valentine's Day, and includes preshow champagne and couple's cupcakes at intermission. "We want to offer couples a fun and romantic alternative or addition to their Valentine's plans on this romantic weekend," said Managing Director, Erin Woods, "An entertaining evening of live theatre provides a memorable, romantic experience."
