REDUXION ANNOUNCES COLLABORATION WITH OKC BALLET
Theater Group Brings Innovation, Artistic Cooperation to Classic Drama

OKLAHOMA CITY (March 5, 2010) – Reduxion Theatre announces the final production of their second residential season in Oklahoma City will be William Shakespeare's gore-filled drama, Titus Andronicus. This production will be directed by Oklahoma stage-veteran, Rodney Brazil and include dance and movement choreography by Oklahoma City Ballet's Artistic Director, Robert Mills.

Reduxion works with Mills on innovative staging for Titus Andronicus, performing this May at City Arts Center Theater on the Oklahoma City Fairgrounds. Mills will work one-on-one with the director and the cast of Titus Andronicus on original dance and movement choreography he has developed specially for Reduxion Theatre and this play. This choreography will serve to heighten the storytelling of Titus as well as artistically represent some of the more violent elements of this gruesome drama.

"We are excited by this collaboration with Robert Mills," said Tyler Woods, Reduxion Co-Founder and Artistic Director. "We, at Reduxion, love what Oklahoma City Ballet does to push boundaries and provide our community with top-notch professional dance productions."

Woods says teamwork with Mills continues Reduxion Theatre Company's mission to enrich Oklahoma's cultural, educational and economic climate.

With the intent to compete with larger markets and further attract and retain Oklahoma's young talent, Reduxion seeks to further impress patrons on the heels of the critically acclaimed production of Shakespeare's comedy, Twelfth Night which closed February, 2010.

The play opens May 13th and performs on Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights at 8 p.m through May 29th. Tickets are $15 for adults and $12 for students and seniors. Parking is free. Call 651-3191 for tickets or purchase online at www.reduxiontheatre.com. City Arts Center is located at 3000 General Pershing Blvd.

Reduxion Theatre Company is a non-profit corporation with a mission to professionally produce classical and contemporary theater, enriching Oklahoma's cultural, educational and economic climate, attracting artists and audiences from around the world.
